

MARY PHAGAN MURDERED WITHIN HOUR AFTER DINNER

SHEPPARD SUBSTITUTE FOR LIPSCOMB BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Votes of State Board Tax Reformers Were Needed to Carry the Measure Through.

ROLL CALL SHOWS FRIENDS AND ENEMIES OF REAL TAX REVISION

Many Went on Record for Measure They Did Not Indorse in Hope of Senate Amendment.

At the close of a morning session, which was prolonged until after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the house on yesterday passed the Shepard substitute for the Lipscomb bill by a vote of 107 to 59.

This was only fourteen votes over the required constitutional majority, and without the help of tax reformers, who believe in a state board and equalization among counties, it would have been impossible for the bill to have passed at all.

Quite a number of members who had lined up with the Shepard bill, Dr. Stovall in the mutilation of the ways and means committee bill did not vote for the Shepard substitute and then voted against it on its final passage.

Analysis of Vote. There were others who voted for the adoption of the Shepard substitute, who, when the roll was called for the final passage of the measure, cast their votes against it, enough of these, in fact, to have defeated the measure had it not been for the state board revisionists who came to its assistance.

Dr. Stovall, of Elbert, who, more than any other, was responsible for the mutilation of the ways and means bill, was one of those who voted for the adoption of the Shepard substitute and then voted against it on its final passage.

Tax Reformers Saved Substitute. This seems clearly to have demonstrated that the advocates of the ways and means bill have claimed from the first, that the Shepard substitute was put forward in the hope of defeating all tax reform. That it did not succeed in doing this was due largely to the state board revisionists who came to its aid at the last moment and would not allow it to be butchered at the hands of its supposed friends.

That Mr. Shepard himself worked very earnestly for the salvation of the measure, when the passage seemed to be threatened cannot be doubted. This is shown by the fact that he even called upon the state board revisionists to save it from defeat.

At the time the bill was introduced, one was an outspoken and thoroughgoing revisionist, and another was a member who had always been counted on that side.

An Extraordinary Situation. A still more extraordinary situation was presented, however, when one of the men called upon by Mr. Shepard to defend his measure, advocated it on the floor of the house and voted for its adoption, but cast his vote against it when it was up for final passage.

It was at first thought that the bill by substitute would pass with little difficulty after the substitute had been adopted. Members were generally away to another roll call as the hour of 2 o'clock had been reached.

DR. H. F. HARRIS GIVES STARTLING EVIDENCE ABOUT TIME OF MURDER

Wound on Eye of Girl Victim of Pencil Factory Crime Looked as if It Came From Blow of Fist, Secretary of State Board of Health Tells the Jury.

While on the Stand Dr. Harris Collapses From Recent Illness

Frequent Clashes Take Place During Testimony of N. V. Darley, Assistant Superintendent of National Pencil Factory, Over the Alleged Nervousness of Frank.

Within three-quarters of an hour after she had eaten her frugal breakfast of cabbage and bread, Mary Phagan was dead.

This startling fact was brought out at Friday's session of the Leo M. Frank trial, when Dr. Roy Harris, secretary of the state board of health, took the stand to tell of the post-mortem examination he performed on the body of the child.

The time of the murder has always been a mooted question. When Dr. Harris made his declaration and exhibited a small bottle containing particles of cabbage, which had been found in the stomach of the dead girl, the crowd seemed to sense the dramatic situation which was to follow.

What would he testify to? This was the question each asked his neighbor.

Dr. Harris briefly told of his examination of the body of the child, explaining the details of his examination of the dead girl's body.

Cabbage Found in Stomach. He stated that he had found in the stomach of the girl particles of cabbage and he exhibited a small bottle containing them. He said in regard to the cabbage, that the condition of the cabbage showed that it had been eaten within a half to three-quarters of an hour after she had eaten this food. He also displayed a small bottle containing a homalobacterium, which he said was found in the stomach of the child.

Dr. Harris was emphatic in his statement that Mary Phagan must have had her death from cabbage. He also described the wound on the dead girl's head, and said she must have been struck by a heavy object.

FREQUENT CLASHES BETWEEN ATTORNEYS

only about Frank's excitement that there was any material evidence. Judge Roan held the witness might be used to show that the occasion was an exciting one, but that he could not be used to show that others were excited.

Mease Arnold and Roser repeatedly stated that they wished their protest against this to go on record.

"Were there any spots on the metal room floor?" asked Mr. Arnold, again taking up the questioning.

"Yes, various spots," replied the witness.

"Any red spots?"

"Yes, red and dark ones."

"How long have you worked in a factory?"

"Twenty-four years."

Blood Spot Frequent.

"Have you ever seen blood spots around where the employees work?"

"Yes, they are quite frequent."

"Why was the back door nailed up that Sunday morning?"

"Well, the factory could not be left unprotected."

"What colored suit did Frank have on the Sunday?"

"A brown one."

"Did he wear the same one Monday?"

"Yes, it looked like it."

"Well, the suit he wore Sunday was just his regular Sunday suit, wasn't it?"

"I don't know; it was a different suit."

"Did you see any scratches or bruises on Frank Sunday?"

"Never noticed any."

"Does the elevator make a noise when it runs?"

"Yes."

"Makes a bumping noise when it stops, too, doesn't it?"

"Yes, some."

"Do not the factory men attached to the same motor as the elevator?"

"Yes, it was noisy, and it has always been so. In some places the dirt and grease is an inch deep, and the wheels are cluttered around on the floor."

Dark Around Elevator Shaft.

"Was it dark around the elevator shaft?"

"Yes, especially on cloudy days."

"Was April 24 cloudy? Didn't it rain that day?"

"Yes, part of the time."

"Was it very dark on the second floor around the elevator shaft and near the clock?"

"Yes."

"Can the metal room door be locked?"

"No, there is no lock on it."

"Are there three large valves in the metal room?"

"Yes."

"Is enough to get a horse in?"

"Well, no, I won't say you could."

"Get a pony in there, would you?"

"Yes, I don't know. They were rather shallow."

"Well, how deep are they, about 1 foot, or a foot and a half?"

"About a foot and a half, I think."

"Is anybody supposed to be in the factory on Sunday?"

"No."

"Isn't there slack in the elevator rope?"

"Yes, some little slack."

"When Frank was engaged in his work at the factory, was he very intent on it?"

"Yes."

Frank Easily Excited.

"Have you ever seen him get excited when things went wrong?"

"Yes, never a day went by without his getting excited. It seems like he got excited frequently and I've seen him rub his hands together a thousand times, and one day when St. Montez raised case he became terribly excited."

"Are you as nervous as Frank?"

"No."

"When he got excited and worried he would tell you, wouldn't he?"

"Yes, frequently."

"Did Frank know many of the boys?"

"He knew Max, Frank, Soudy and Mr. Dwyer, about the witness stating what was mostly everything that was a story of Frank's own mind, and Judge Roan held that the witness might give his opinion."

"I don't know whether or not he knew Mary Phagan," the witness then declared.

"Did you know her?"

"I did not know the name but I had seen the girl on the street."

Darley then stated that none of the papers similar to the part of a woman found near the girl's body were commonly scattered around the building.

"Was the clock due struck that day?"

"Yes, the clock was usually struck, but about that time the boy was lost and the door was kept unlocked."

"Both you and Frank were mistaken that Sunday morning in thinking that the punches on the time slip were all right, were you?"

"Yes, the witness replied.

Judge Roan then adjourned court for lunch.

Rosa Reverses Decision.

At the beginning of the afternoon session Judge Roan reversed his decision in which he had sustained the state in their objection to testimony relative to the nervousness of others beside Frank being admitted.

He said:

"The defense can show the mental condition of any other person in the building. Relative to Phagan's testimony of the handwriting, inasmuch as he is not expert, his statement will not be admitted without the company."

Describe All Actions.

"Well, whether they were officers or not, you said they all were nervous. Now describe the actions of them all."

"I have explained all I know."

"Why did you state, Frank as much and fall on the others?"

"Because they were so much more nervous than all the others."

"Mr. Holloway was shaky on Monday."

"Yes, that was when the extra came out. The solicitor asked him questions."

"Are you mad—do you mind my questions?"

"No."

"Another question was asked: 'Who else was nervous?'"

"Mr. Schiff was shaky and apparently nervous."

"Was anybody nervous on Tuesday?"

"Yes, Mr. Frank was when the extra came out that he was to be arrested."

"How did you get the data for the financial sheet?"

"Mr. Schiff and others."

"Then all Frank has to do is to complete this data."

"I do not know."

"Was New Lee nervous?"

"Yes."

"What did Frank state to you in reference to the clock?"

"I do not know."

"He said the clock of New Lee was corrected up to 10 o'clock on Monday."

"Is there anything right about this diagram of the state's expert a general view of things at the factory?"

"Yes."

"Does the picture show a lot smaller than shown in the picture?"

"Yes."

"Does the picture show a bookcase in Frank's office?"

"Yes."

"Isn't there a case that hides part of the view from the other?"

"Yes."

"Doesn't the picture misrepresent the office view?"

"Yes."

"Isn't it drawn adroitly with that effect?"

"It seems so."

"Objection is Sustained."

Attorney Roser's objection to rule out the word 'adroitly' on the grounds of immateriality and a conclusion was sustained.

"The diagram looks small in the diagram, when in fact, it is larger than the door?"

"Yes."

"The diagram doesn't show a roll-top desk, two cabinets nor a wardrobe, does it?"

"No."

"Isn't that a very accurate picture, is it?"

"Yes, especially on cloudy days."

"Was April 24 cloudy? Didn't it rain that day?"

"The defense can show the mental condition of any other person in the building. Relative to Phagan's testimony of the handwriting, inasmuch as he is not expert, his statement will not be admitted without the company."

Describe All Actions.

"Well, whether they were officers or not, you said they all were nervous. Now describe the actions of them all."

"I have explained all I know."

"Why did you state, Frank as much and fall on the others?"

"Because they were so much more nervous than all the others."

"Mr. Holloway was shaky on Monday."

"Yes, that was when the extra came out. The solicitor asked him questions."

"Are you mad—do you mind my questions?"

"No."

"Another question was asked: 'Who else was nervous?'"

"Mr. Schiff was shaky and apparently nervous."

"Was anybody nervous on Tuesday?"

"Yes, Mr. Frank was when the extra came out that he was to be arrested."

"How did you get the data for the financial sheet?"

"Mr. Schiff and others."

"Then all Frank has to do is to complete this data."

"I do not know."

"Was New Lee nervous?"

"Yes."

"What did Frank state to you in reference to the clock?"

"I do not know."

"He said the clock of New Lee was corrected up to 10 o'clock on Monday."

"Is there anything right about this diagram of the state's expert a general view of things at the factory?"

"Yes."

"Does the picture show a lot smaller than shown in the picture?"

"Yes."

"Does the picture show a bookcase in Frank's office?"

"Yes."

"Isn't there a case that hides part of the view from the other?"

"Yes."

"Doesn't the picture misrepresent the office view?"

"Yes."

"Isn't it drawn adroitly with that effect?"

"It seems so."

"Objection is Sustained."

Attorney Roser's objection to rule out the word 'adroitly' on the grounds of immateriality and a conclusion was sustained.

"The diagram looks small in the diagram, when in fact, it is larger than the door?"

"Yes."

"The diagram doesn't show a roll-top desk, two cabinets nor a wardrobe, does it?"

"No."

"Isn't that a very accurate picture, is it?"

"Yes, especially on cloudy days."

"Was April 24 cloudy? Didn't it rain that day?"

"Yes, part of the time."

"Was it very dark on the second floor around the elevator shaft and near the clock?"

"Yes."

"Can the metal room door be locked?"

"No, there is no lock on it."

"Are there three large valves in the metal room?"

"Yes."

"Is enough to get a horse in?"

"Well, no, I won't say you could."

"Get a pony in there, would you?"

"Yes, I don't know. They were rather shallow."

"Well, how deep are they, about 1 foot, or a foot and a half?"

"About a foot and a half, I think."

"Is anybody supposed to be in the factory on Sunday?"

"No."

"Isn't there slack in the elevator rope?"

"Yes, some little slack."

"When Frank was engaged in his work at the factory, was he very intent on it?"

"Yes."

Everyday Was Excited.

"Have you ever seen him get excited when things went wrong?"

"Yes, never a day went by without his getting excited. It seems like he got excited frequently and I've seen him rub his hands together a thousand times, and one day when St. Montez raised case he became terribly excited."

"Are you as nervous as Frank?"

"No."

"When he got excited and worried he would tell you, wouldn't he?"

"Yes, frequently."

"Did Frank know many of the boys?"

"He knew Max, Frank, Soudy and Mr. Dwyer, about the witness stating what was mostly everything that was a story of Frank's own mind, and Judge Roan held that the witness might give his opinion."

"I don't know whether or not he knew Mary Phagan," the witness then declared.

"Did you know her?"

"I did not know the name but I had seen the girl on the street."

Darley then stated that none of the papers similar to the part of a woman found near the girl's body were commonly scattered around the building.

"Was the clock due struck that day?"

"Yes, the clock was usually struck, but about that time the boy was lost and the door was kept unlocked."

"Both you and Frank were mistaken that Sunday morning in thinking that the punches on the time slip were all right, were you?"

"Yes, the witness replied.

Judge Roan then adjourned court for lunch.

Rosa Reverses Decision.

At the beginning of the afternoon session Judge Roan reversed his decision in which he had sustained the state in their objection to testimony relative to the nervousness of others beside Frank being admitted.

He said:

Negro Lurking in Factory Seen by Wife of Employee

Mrs. Maggie White, wife of John Armar, White, who was at work on the fourth floor of the National Penicillin factory part of the day upon which Mary Phagan was killed, was the first witness the state called to the stand Thursday morning in the Frank trial.

The witness told of going to the factory twice on that day to see her husband, and of seeing Frank on both occasions, and also of seeing a negro lurking behind some boxes on the first floor.

"How long have your husband been working for the National Penicillin factory?"

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey asked after the usual questions as to her identity.

"About two years," she replied.

"Does he still work there?"

"Yes."

"Was he at the factory on April 24, and at what time?"

"Yes, he was there. I left home to see him at 10 o'clock. I saw him there when I first went there at 10 o'clock, and when I came back at 12:30 he was still there."

"Who else did you see there?"

"Miss Christina Hall, Mr. Frank, Miss Emma, Freeman and two men whose names I do not know, all were in Mr. Frank's office when I first saw him."

"How long did you stay the first time?"

"About twenty minutes."

"Did you talk to Frank?"

"Yes, he asked me to see my husband."

"What did he say?"

"He said he was sick."

"What else did he say, if anything?"

"He said he thought as much as I looked like the Campbell. My father, St. Campbell, and my brother, Wade Campbell, both worked there," she explained.

"How long had they worked there?"

"About two years."

"What did Frank say after that?"

"He told Mrs. Freeman to go after Mr. White, and my husband came down."

"Where did you see your husband?"

"On the second floor, near the foot of the stairs."

"How long did you talk to him?"

"About fifteen minutes."

"What did you do then?"

"I went out."

"What time did you come back?"

"About 12:30."

"Why do you use the word 'about'?"

"I don't know the exact time, but there might have been a minute's difference."

"Did you see Frank when you came back the second time?"

"Yes."

"What time?"

"He told Mrs. Freeman when I went into his office and spoke to him."

"Where were they?"

"I went upstairs to see my husband."

"Who was with him?"

"Harry Denham."

"On the fourth floor of the building, about 12:30, near the foot of the stairs?"

"What were they doing?"

"Hammering on one of the machines."

"How many were using hammer?"

"One of them."

"Did you hear the hammering?"

"Yes."

"Was it on the fourth floor?"

"Yes."

"How loud was the noise?"

"Like the sound of a hammer hitting a piece of iron."

"What did you ask Frank after he came?"

"I just asked if my husband and Mr. Denham had gone back to work, and he said they had."

"Inexplicably."

"What was the kind in her stomach upon its removal?"

"One hundred and sixty-six cubic centimeters of cabbage and beans."

"Was this substance digested?"

"No."

"Here the witness took from his pocket a small, rectangular, blue preservative, in which floated a small amount of cabbage."

"This," he said, "is some of what I removed from the stomach."

"How long was this substance in her stomach before death?"

"She was either killed or received the blow upon the head thirty or forty minutes after her last meal."

Evidence of Violence.

On the first testimony that in examining the organs of the girl's body, he had discovered evidence of violence.

"How long does it take a corpse to begin to rot?"

"It varies so much in different cases that it is impossible to determine."

"Are you able to say how long it was before Mary Phagan died?"

"I can't say."

"How long did she live after eating her last meal?"

"Thirty or forty-five minutes."

"How much blood did she lose?"

"That, I cannot say."

It was upon this last answer that Dr. Harris suffered the collapse. He was assisted from the stand by Deputy Sheriff Fletch Miller before the defense was able to begin its cross-examination.

THE WAYWARD GIRL'S HOME.

Friends of the measure committing the state to the construction of a home for ward girls are hoping, with the cooperation of Chairman Crawford Wheatley of the house appropriations committee, to enact it in such shape as will at least enable the institution to get a start this year. From the very first there has been no doubt that members of the appropriations committee and the subcommittee unanimously agreed upon the desirability of the movement. The one hitch has come in the matter of an appropriation, with the legislature already having to pare and prune to pay the state's fixed charges, and tailing end in that.

Chairman Wheatley knew that if the bill came to a vote under these conditions, and carrying a large appropriation, it would be defeated. Being heartily in sympathy with its principle, he saved the bill by having it tabled. It is now proposed to take the bill from the table next Tuesday and pass it with this amendment: That the state appropriate this year a nominal sum only, anywhere from $500 to $1,000, so that the institution may at once be gotten under way with the official introduction of the state. The advocates of the movement, notably the good women of Georgia, believe that with a home given the official sanction of the state, they will be able to secure large outside contributions such as will, in the long run, lessen the amount ultimately to be asked of the legislature.

The compromise thus suggested has the approval of Chairman Wheatley and other members of the committee and subcommittee. Involving only a small appropriation, it should appeal successfully to the legislature. As to the merits of the movement, The Constitution need add little to the arguments it has already advanced in favor of the home. It is estimated that each year from ten to twelve girls in each county in Georgia are lost through the lack of such an institution. That one fact ought to render superfluous any elaborate plea in behalf of the home.

DISHONOR'S REWARD.

England and Germany have decided not to participate in the exposition to be held at San Francisco to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal. While no official explanation has been proffered, it is generally understood that both these powers are actuated by the position of the United States with regard to Panama canal tolls.

And England and Germany are thoroughly justified. They would cut pretty figures participating in an exposition to mark the opening of the canal when the United States has made the canal available to their ships under conditions of certain national dishonor. The original plan was to have the canal tolls set at a level which would make it impossible for any foreign vessel to compete with the American flag. The United States has now decided to change the tolls to a level which will allow foreign vessels to compete with the American flag. This is a dishonorable act, and it is no wonder that England and Germany have decided not to participate in the exposition. The United States has now made it impossible for any foreign vessel to compete with the American flag.

This is a dishonorable act, and it is no wonder that England and Germany have decided not to participate in the exposition.

The United States has now made it impossible for any foreign vessel to compete with the American flag. This is a dishonorable act, and it is no wonder that England and Germany have decided not to participate in the exposition. The United States has now made it impossible for any foreign vessel to compete with the American flag. This is a dishonorable act, and

Double Bill Is Divided; Play Two Games Today; Love to Hurl One Game

By Dick Temison.

The Crakers and the Vois divided the double bill at Ponce de Leon Friday afternoon, the locals winning the first, 5 to 1, and the visitors the second, 4 to 2.

The first game was delayed thirty minutes on account of rain, and the second game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

The teams will tie up in a double bill again this afternoon, the first game starting at 3:15 o'clock.

Thompson will be pitted against Williams in the first game, with Dunn against Smith in the second.

Porter More and Gilbert Price locked horns in a hot pitchers duel in the first game, and for each inning they battled without either having any apparent advantage.

In the eighth the Crakers had three runs, two on a sacrifice, which were sufficient to win. Up until this time More had allowed but one hit.

Price, who allowed only one hit in the first game, would not have been scored upon for an error.

How Runs Were Scored.

Long worked More for a free throw to start the Crakers' first inning, and he scored his first run.

$290,325 CRIPPED OFF MONEY SHEET

This Reduction by the Senate Will Make Appropriations and Revenue of Georgia About Equal.

Following a plea by J. Randolph Anderson, president of the senate, the appropriations committee of that body met a second time yesterday and sliced $290,325 from the general appropriations bill as passed by the house. This reduction made by the senate committee makes the appropriation bill pass practically the same amount as the anticipated revenue of the state. During the session of the senate the chairman of the committee, Senator W. W. Stark, asked that his committee be allowed to sit. This request was granted and the members of the committee adjourned to the secretary's room. Here a sub-committee of Senators Stark, Turner, Miller and Gowan was appointed to confer with the governor immediately.

The sub-committee then held a conference with Governor Stanton and threatened the entire matter. Stark, Turner, Miller and Gowan in some way decrease the appropriations so that they would be in accordance with the revenue. Upon the question of what appropriations could be cut it was agreed that certain classes of state house officers, and maintenance fund for the state charitable institutions could not be reduced.

It was concluded that the appropriations for the state house officers of the state and the pension fund must be cut. To make the cut fair to all it was decided that the same per cent would be cut from every institution and that that per cent should be whatever was necessary to make the deficit which would be caused the state were the appropriations cut as passed by the house exactly into a 7 per cent cut made.

After much calculating it was decided to cut 7 per cent from every class of pensions and from each of the educational institutions and the common school fund.

Working strictly on a 7 per cent basis the following is the amount sliced from each of the various classes recommended by the committee by a practically unanimous vote that it do so:

Pension fund ..... $74,500
Common school fund ..... $1,500
Georgia Tech ..... $4,000
State Normal school ..... $1,250
Normal and Industrial school ..... $1,250
University of Georgia ..... $1,250
State Agricultural college ..... $1,000
Augusta Medical college ..... $1,000

Total ..... $290,325

Senator Stark and other members of the committee stated that they noted to slice the funds of the state but that the reduction was absolutely necessary to keep the state in any way like a good government. The members of the committee stated that the condition of most of these institutions but that when the house has as yet showed no disposition to reduce the revenue they were left to do the action on the part of the senate. The committee stated that the bill requiring sufficient revenue to meet the appropriations for the year before printing that the senate will readily place back upon the appropriations bill its amendment.

SHEPARD SUBSTITUTE FOR LIPSOMB BILL

Second Roll Called. But a show of hands revealed the fact that there were only 25 votes for the bill, one less than the necessary number required to pass it. It was then that Mr. Fulbright called the yeas and nays again, so as to compel members to go on record for or against the bill.

State Board Fight Not Abandoned. The state board tax reformers who voted to have the bill not thereby stamp their approval upon it. Far from it. Most of them regarded it as a subterfuge and declared themselves. They believe that equalization to be really effective and to give satisfaction to the people must be applied to counties as well as to individuals. They have not given up the fight for that principle, or for the bill, they do.

They were placed in a peculiar situation. In order that the bill might be transferred to the senate they were compelled to declare their votes for a measure which they did not believe in. In the hope that it may be amended when it reaches the senate, they voted against it. This was the only alternative. That really was the only alternative. They had no choice but to vote against it.

Really a Victory for Reform. It is true that the common good and earnest tax reformers who could not see that it was a defeat, but preferred the substitute as the less of two evils. Mr. Conner of Spalding, said that he would not believe the people would stand such a thing. He said that the people would stand such a thing that could be effected for the present by the adoption of the Shepard bill.

CASTRO'S RETURN CAUSES SENSATION

Unqualified support of the government. Some of them expected the dispatch of additional arms and ammunition to the rebels. It was rumored here yesterday that Captain Castro was on board a steamer off Corro. But the government refused to make any statement on the subject. Official dispatches state that an invading force from Colombia, under the command of General Rosendo Gonzalez, has been driven back on the frontier of the state of Tachira, where Colonel Rios, in command of the state troops, has forced the rebels to abandon their positions.

On the other side of Venezuela revolutionists commanded by a nephew of Castro attacked the city of Maracay. They were defeated, and it was claimed by government troops led by General Zelaya.

No troops have been sent from Caracas to meet the rebels, and the government believes the state troops strong enough to deal with them.

The president announced today that the army of Bolivia would be purchased, whether favorable or unfavorable to the government. He says that he has no objection to the sale of the splendid army, and also because he believes that the government is capable of maintaining it.

mal—Compares With 81.8
Last Month 76.5 Last Year

Washington, August 1.—A decline of 2.2 per cent in the production of cotton in July compared with the condition on June 25, was shown today when the department of agriculture announced the results of its survey. The figure showed 70.6 per cent of a normal crop. The figure showed a decline of 1.5 per cent from the 72.1 per cent average, but 3.1 per cent above last year's July output.

Since the June 25 report the condition declined 8.3 per cent in Alabama, 3.0 per cent in Texas and 1.5 per cent in Mississippi. The cotton in Louisiana and Missouri, however, showed a condition equal to or above the June 25 average.

The condition in all the Atlantic seaboard states was below the 10-year average condition, but above the 1913 average. In the entire belt condition figures were above those of 1913.

The condition of the growing winter crop of the United States on July 22 was 79.6 per cent of a normal crop, or 1.5 per cent above the 1913 average, but 2.5 per cent below the 10-year average. The condition of the winter wheat crop on July 25 of the past ten years, according
